Maya Plants a School Garden

Maya carried a small watering can to the school garden on Monday morning.

Her class planted six bean seeds beside the sunny wooden fence.

Mr. Lee showed everyone how to press each seed gently into the soil.

Maya poured a little water over every dark patch of soil.

The children placed blue labels where the bean seeds were buried.

After three days, two pale green shoots appeared above the ground.

Maya measured the shoots with a short classroom ruler each afternoon.

The class planned to draw the growing plants in a garden notebook.
